

SPOTLIGHTING OUR PEOPLE

ROAD DESIGN TEAM

To celebrate National Roundabouts Week from September 19-23, we're spotlighting American Structurepoint's talented road design team. Our growing team is known for its vast experience, quality of work, speed of delivery, and dynamic approach to providing innovative solutions for our clients across the nation.

American Structurepoint's dedicated professionals thrive on the complexity of our projects and take pride in successful outcomes. Even though all projects have complexities, our road design team addresses them better than anyone because they are dedicated to their craft, constantly look for ways to improve, and draw from a deep well of resources to solve them.

At American Structurepoint, our road design team has more than 100 professionals working in Indiana, Ohio, Texas, and Florida to improve our country's transportation network. While we have provided the design and/or conceptual layout or review for more than 300 roundabouts, our professionals also provide a variety of roadway solutions.

Our team's work includes engineering studies, pavement rehabilitation and reconstruction, complete streets design, intersection improvements, trail design, added travel lanes, and complex interchange design. American Structurepoint is designing and managing large-scale projects like the I-69 Finish Line project in Indiana and helping local communities like Hays County, Texas, solve its traffic concerns with a roundabout at a major intersection.

American Structurepoint is committed to improving the quality of life for the people and communities we serve by making our infrastructure network safer, more reliable, and accessible for all methods of transportation.

Visit Structurepoint.com/careers if you'd like to be a part of our growing teams in Ohio, Florida, Texas, and Indiana. Our wide range of projects and multiple design centers allow for a tailored experience to grow and enhance your career.
